

Meet the team

Becky Green, Senior Clinical Psychologist

Hello, I'm Becky. I've been a part of the Clinical Psychology team since 2014. I feel proud to work within The Stonegrove Centre and Sexual Health Sheffield with patients and colleagues promoting psychological wellbeing.

Outside of work I love to be outdoors. Being amongst the many trees of Sheffield and watching wildlife is incredibly nourishing for me. I am passionate about self-development and growth.

I appreciate it's not always easy to consider being referred to a psychologist. I never underestimate the courage it takes to take that first step.

Emma Headley, Clinical Psychologist

Hi, I'm Emma. I joined the Clinical Psychology team in 2021. I work with people attending Sexual Health Sheffield and The Stonegrove Centre and I feel very lucky to work with both patients and colleagues in these services. I am passionate about supporting people to develop a better understanding of themselves and their lived experiences through psychological therapy.

Outside of work I love to cook and experiment with different ingredients, I especially enjoy learning about recipes from different parts of the world. I feel most content when I am spending time in nature or by the sea.

It is important to me to work compassionately, treating everyone with dignity and respect. If you do decide that you want to see a psychologist; myself or another member of the team will listen to you and help you work towards the goals that are most important in your life.

Emily Bennett, Assistant Psychologist

Hello, I'm Emily. I joined the Clinical Psychology team in 2022. I am proud to work within the stonegrove and sexual health teams, and aim to provide a thoughtful, considerate space for you to discuss your experiences.

Outside of work, I'm passionate about music and enjoy exploring different music genres to find new artists I love.

If you decide that you would like to be seen by a member of the psychology team, we will work with you compassionately and make sure your voice is heard.

We also have Trainee Clinical and/or Counselling Psychologists working within the service.
